A manuscript full of interesting information for old and young. Another Holiday year is beginning to dawn upon us which always brings anticipated joy and happiness in every home. The young minds are all ablaze with joy and pleasure. They look forward to the coming of Christmas. It's the time for gift making. Fathers, mothers, sisters, brothers, sweethearts, and everyone delight in making happy those who are near and dear to them. This has been the rule for hundreds of years back, and it will continue so long as this world stands. We as one of the leading and representative business houses of this city proclaim perfection in every department where preparations have been made for useful as well as ornamental wares. Many sections have been given new quarters during this time Our entire fourth floor is controlled by the most complete Toy Department this city has ever seen. Our Book centre is a store of no less magnitude. Our Jewelry, Novelry, and Leather Goods Departments are aglow with stacks of beautiful, unique, and brilliant yuletide presents, displaying solid gold jewelry of the newest patterns, watches from the wee mite to the standard sizes; dresser pieces and many other of like character. The Art floor is radiant with artistic needlework and home decorations charming to behold. B.ic-a-Prac from the homes of the finest petteries in the world, as well as ornaments of American ideas. In the more useful gifts are Umbrellas, Silks, Dress Goods, Neck Pieces, and Ready-to-Wear things which have been specially bought for this coming event. And so it goes on in every department which is clamoring for holiday trade. If we are to be first choice in your buying we would advise you to make your purchases as early as you possibly can, because better things can always be had where stocks show completeness. If you buy now, we will store all your pavehases until the proper time for delivery, if a small deposit is made, which will give you the benefit of avoiding the rush. We distribute free with your buying fancy boxes, also do all engraving on silverware, umbrellas, and lettering on all leather goods where the purchase is $1 or more.

Whether the drizzling rain had dampened the arder of their benevolence, or whether the proximity of Christmas exercised an adverse influence, the result was that up to a late hour last night less than a hundred dollars in money and supplies had been received. The authorities hope. however, that today will witness an increase in the receipts. Few Visitors at the Hospital.

Plans had been made for the reception of visitors, but those who came were few and far between. This was unfortunate, as there were probably many people whose interest would have been aroused, their sympathies enlisted, and their purse strings relaxed by a visit of inspection to the institution, and a realization of its

The necessity for a donation day is allotment of only $15,000 from the public funds is provided for this institution. To the generosity of individuals and the income derived from a few private rooms set come derived from a few private rooms set ande for the treatment of people who are able to pay. But even these wards are constantly encroached on by the charity cases, so hampered are the hospital au-thorities for room. The greater part of the accidental injuries of the District are treated in this hospital, and each year the demands upon the institution are increa-ing.

The First Donation Day,

The first donation day was on March 17 3894, and it yielded $458 in money and $500in supplies. This amount has never been exceeded by any succeeding donation day

The day usually set saide for the receipt of gifts from the philanthropically inclined has heretofore been in March or February. But it was the thought of the superintendent, Miss Irene B. Lening, that people would likely be more inclined to give at some other than the Lenten sca-mon, so the date was this year changed to December 3. When the custom was first inaugurated the Emergency Hospital was the only institution of its kind which made an appeal to public generosity. Now several of the other hospitals have adopted the custom, and the Emergency must perforce divide with them the sum total of receipts.

Appeals for Ald.

The Care of Patients.

The nature of the cases treated demands that some of them be isolated. To do this, and yet keep a number of wards always ready for emergencies, makes it necessary to continually encroach upon those rooms which should be set uside for people who are able to pay for treatment. Thus a source of possible revenue is cut

Yet a visit to the hespital reveals no enfusion, and arouses a feeling of admir-tior for the management that have done much with so little. If more people would visit the institution and acquaint themselves with the good work being done, and the untoward circumstances under which it is accom-sulting in substantial advantages would be inaugurated. DIDN'T HAVE THE MONEY.
